

Peace, Come Back Again!

Clouds high in the sky,
flying over borders,
flying over borders.

Raindrops don't know why
walls are being raised.
Stones cannot stay dry,
and the summer blazed.

Only people build the walls,
quarreling, they fight.
It never ends with brawls—
darkness steals the light.

Fear and envy everywhere,
fighter jets cut through the air.
Would you lift a prayer?

This is how wars begin.
This is how wars begin.

Clouds high in the sky,
flying over borders,
flying over borders.

Raindrops don't know why
walls are being raised.
Stones cannot stay dry,
and the summer blazed.

Only kindness shows the way,
heals a world of hate.
Clouds don't have to stay so gray—
blue skies would be great.

Sunlight shining everywhere,
enemies to friends.

Peace can now begin.
Peace, come back again!

Peace can now begin.
Peace, come back again!
